

Mail and Parcel Post Clauses

1. Notwithstanding anything incorporated herein, this insurance (except War risks) attaches from the time the subject-matter insured and as to any part as that part is first moved in the premises of the senders at the place named in the policy for the immediate commencement of the transit and continues until the subject-matter insured and as to any part as that part is delivered to the address on the postal package(s) when this insurance shall terminate.
2. Notwithstanding anything contained herein to the contrary, it is specially understood and agreed as follows:-
 - (1) Warranted free from any claim for loss or damage proved to be due to incorrect and/or ambiguous and/or insufficient description of the address on the package(s) and also for loss or damage resulting from any disposal by the Postal Authorities by reason of the subject-matter insured having become undeliverable to, or having been unaccepted by the addressees.
 - (2) No claim for pilferage shall be paid if the package(s) be delivered to with seals intact.
 - (3) Post Office Receipt for the Mail and/or Parcel Post will be required as proof in case of claim for non-delivery.
 - (4) In case of loss, claim must be immediately filed against the Government (Postal Service), and a copy thereof and the replies thereto must accompany any claim presented under this policy.

1/9/14